

⇒ LIFE AS RECEIVING ⇐

TO BE IS A GIFT.

To be here, who I am and what I am—this is possible because of what came before me and lies beyond me, the original abundance.

Born in another time and place, I would be different. With another body and mind, I would be different. Surrounded by little or nothing, I would be different. This me could only occur here.

I WALKED THROUGH GATES, BUT THEY HAD TO APPEAR.

Some were pivotal—without the essential person, connection, or opportunity, I would not be in this place. No amount of effort would have been enough. To perceive the many ways my life is gifted, as much as earned, brings

AWE, HUMILITY, AND GRATITUDE.

And it brings a curiosity. The awareness that is me, the abundance that is here—these happened nowhere else. So what is it I am uniquely positioned to do?

WHAT IS UNIQUELY POSSIBLE HERE?

It's a question with infinite unfolding. It becomes an orientation pervading life.

A REFLECTION, RELATIONSHIP, AND RECIPROCITY BACK TOWARD ALL.