

LIFE POTENTIALS

COACHING

One of the challenges of living with wealth is that many people see you for what you own and can do for them. It's hard to find those who see you for who you are—or have the skill to partner in your unfolding. Each of us is only a tiny expression of what we could be. Most of our ability and archetypal giftedness lies below the surface. Some of our most potent gifts we may find surprising. This soul coaching is about how to shed old energies, tendencies, and baggage. And invoke new potentials, connections, and ways of being. It may include personal retreats to craft your next life chapter.

FIND IT

Eileen Zorn, eghayzorn@aol.com.

Generosity is a way of being. And it begins in an abundant life. There are few reinforcements for brilliant existence. Little helps us glimpse our hidden potentials, clarify our dreams, or think differently.

This resource is part of a collection spanning an array of philosophies, approaches, and skills. Each explores how to live with bliss and impact.

We describe this resource as a gift to you and all those seeking to make the world better.

THE KAISER INSTITUTE